#653: Skills or Stupid

This guy is...well... Look at how his harness is attached to the building, or light fixture at least. He also must not need eye protection and gloves to fix a metal roof. Then I noticed his ladder is doing a cliffhanger.

Today's risk management quiz...How in the tarnation did that guy do that? It takes someone very special to balance a ladder like that, the climb onto it, and then turn around, and then continue to work without serious injury or damage. Forget the guy on the ladder...what about the people on the ground. Have you ever felt a ladder smack against your head? Trust me it hurts!
